Are you prepared?

Unintentional injuries occur every 5 minutes!

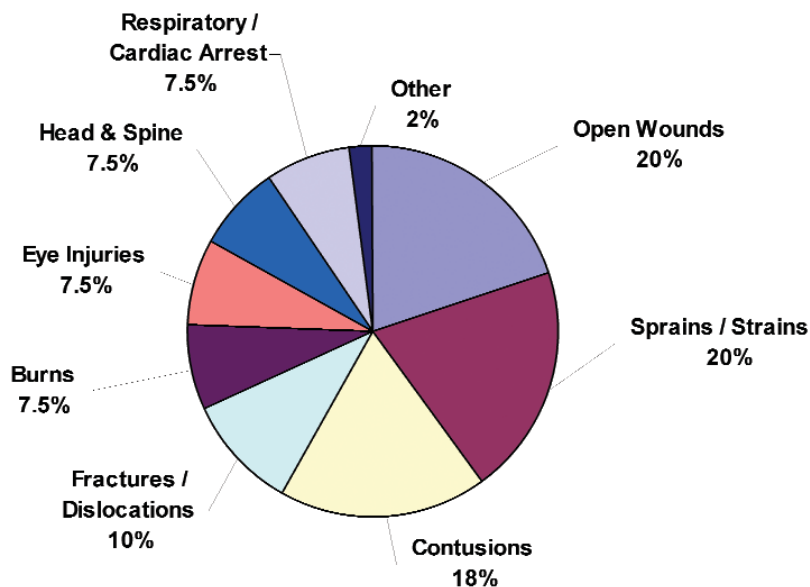

Injuries happen every day, with no warning: at work, traveling, play or home. According to the National Safety Council, unintentional injuries:

- result in 40 million emergency room visits
- cause approximately 100,000 deaths
- are the 5th leading cause of death for all ages

Traditional first aid training and supplies may not adequately prepare the average person to respond in an emergency—when every second counts.

In an emergency, it is difficult to quickly gather your thoughts and the supplies necessary to render assistance. The All-Ready® Complete First Aid System provides a patented process of visual prompts and guides to help you not only identify the correct supplies, but to provide you with all the necessary step-by-step instructions, simply by selecting the appropriate care pack.

All-Ready[®]

Complete First Aid System

Current state of First Aid training and response:

- The first 3-4 minutes after an injury can make the difference between life and death.
- Average EMT response time is 8 minutes.
- First aid is typically given by a nonprofessional.
- Under stress, ability to think clearly and rapidly is greatly diminished.

The All-Ready Complete First Aid System:

- Easy to read, step-by-step illustrated instructions.
- Color- and icon-coded instruction cards for rapid identification.
- Gives confidence to manage common injuries during the first few critical minutes.
- Easily integrates into existing first aid training programs.
